

12           (b) multiplexing at each computation stage each pair of 13 input values using a multiplexer and producing an output 14 determined by the binary decision; and 15           (c) storing at each computation stage the binary decision 16 and the selected data value [[input]] in a storage element.